

Mrs. Blomberg

Naomi Blomberg will be teaching 7th grade at Lighthouse Christian Academy and is thankful for the opportunity to be able to teach again in a Christian environment.

Naomi graduated from the University of Northwestern in St. Paul, MN with a degree in Psychology/Bible minor. She worked as a recess aid/tutor in a public elementary setting before working as the Learning Coordinator at a private Christian school in the Twin Cities area. She most recently was a Special Education teacher at Greenway High School.

Naomi is married to Brian and they have two children, JJ and Lark. Naomi loves animals and currently has three labs (Storm, Ole and Lena) and two ducks (Pickles and Tuft). She enjoys precept Bible studies, spending time with family, baking, pickleball, tennis, fishing, puzzles, and four-wheeling.

Her philosophy of education centers on fostering an environment where students embark on discovering their true identity in Christ, recognizing their personal and spiritual significance and developing their academic achievements through a Biblical Worldview. One of her core beliefs is that every student has worth, meaning and purpose. Her primary aim is to serve as a consistent source of encouragement, setting high standards for academic achievement, spiritual growth, and personal growth.

Naomi is committed to recognizing that each individual student may face unique challenges along their educational journey. She is also dedicated to ensuring solid communication with each of her students and their families.

Naomi's overall philosophy is that everyone has a unique God-given ability and purpose to glorify Him. Her desire is for students to develop into confident, compassionate, and purposeful individuals ready to positively impact the world around them in Jesus' name.
